SAMANTHA HARRIS Her goldendoodle, Emmitt, is the gift that keeps giving!

Emmitt had this face we loved, so he just had to be our newest addition," Samantha Harris gushes to Closer of bringing home her gorgeous pet goldendoodle in 2017. "We got him as a Christmas gift for our kids and they've developed so much love for him — it really warms our hearts to see that." While the Entertainment Tonight host and author of Your Healthiest Healthy took in her "lovely" pooch for her children, she is the one who's bonded with Emmitt the most! "I love brushing him before bedtime," Samantha raves of the "zen-like" activity. "It's helped in my quest for meditative moments throughout my day. Yes, my puppy has made me healthier!"

I've Goat You, Babe

The Designated Survivor star celebrated "a world of deeper understanding and compassion towards all beings" when she snuggled up with a new goat pal during her visit to the rescue animal sanctuary The Gentle Barn, in Santa Clarita, Calif., on June 4. "It's an incredible space of healing from trauma," the actress shares.
