

Samantha Harris:

'MEET MY BABY GIRL'

ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT CORRESPONDENT SAMANTHA HARRIS GIVES OK! READERS THE FIRST LOOK AT HER 2-WEEK-OLD DAUGHTER, HILLARY

Top, Splendid; Jeans, Samantha's own; Onesie, Splendid.

"At two weeks, she's feeding every two to four hours," says Samantha.

"It's so wonderful to get to spend this much time with her," she says.

Hillary's nursery is being decorated by Katy Mimari for Caden Lane.

"You forget how snugly having a newborn in your arms feels," Samantha says.

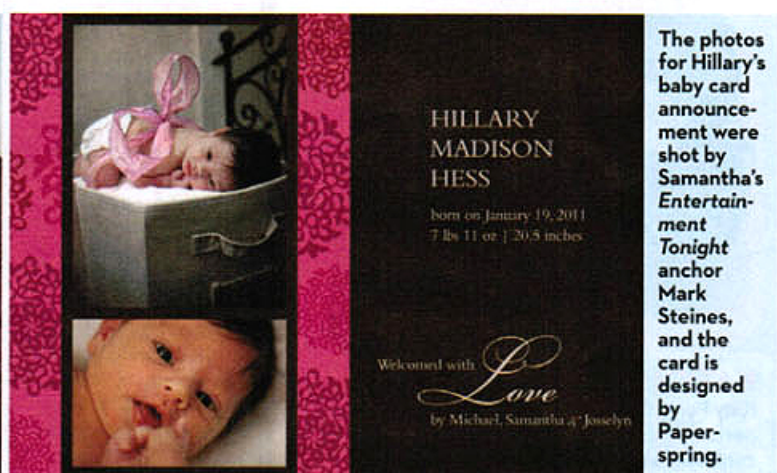

"These early stages of being a newborn are so great," Samantha says.

In Samantha Harris' first interview since giving birth to her second child, Hillary Madison Hess, on Jan. 19, she was bursting with pride. "This is so much fun. When you have one child that you love so much, you wonder how you could possibly love another as much as the first. Now I know: I think you grow another heart when you have another child," she tells OK!. (She and husband Michael Hess had their first daughter, Josselyn Sydney, in 2007.)

SHE DIDN'T EXPECT A GIRL
"It's so funny because during the whole pregnancy I didn't know if it was a girl or a boy until the final two or three weeks, so I

"Michael could not be a better dad to little girls," she tells OK!.

HILLARY MADISON HESS

born on January 19, 2011
7 lbs 11 oz | 20.5 inches

Welcomed with Love
by Michael, Samantha & Josselyn

The photos for Hillary's baby card announcement were shot by Samantha's Entertainment Tonight anchor Mark Steines, and the card is designed by Paper-spring.